LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Controversies and potential controversies fell like cordwood last week in the Arkansas Legislature — but there are still a few lurking in legislative corners.

After a wave of protest from around the state a proposal which would probably have cost Winthrop Rockefeller his job as chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Commission was quietly dropped along with a resolution to praise him.

A proposal that would have increased the tax on soft drinks also was dropped. Yell County Rep. Lloyd George withdrew it when support of the county judges evaporated.

The anti-gambling bill was also withdrawn by Ashley County Rep. N. B. Murphy who said it had been amended so much that he

Former Child Star Lands in Prison

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Taking a new car for a demonstration ride—one that lasted from Jonesboro, Ark. to Houston, has resulted in prison terms for a 22-year-old former child movie star and her husband.

Lora Lee Scott received a 13-month sentence and her husband, Frank O. Scott, 35, was given a 27-month term by Federal District Judge Allen B. Hannay. They were charged with taking a stolen car to Houston from Jonesboro last May.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Morton Susman said the Scotts took another car when they got to Houston and made a six-month tour of much of the eastern and southern United States. He said the couple ran up about $3,700 in bills on three credit cards found in the glove compartment of the car.

Mrs. Scott said she appeared in 19 movies under the name of Lora Lee Michel between 1946 and 1950. She said they included "The Snake Pit," "Mighty Joe Young," "Good Sam" and "Tokyo Joe."

State Crime on Increase in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Crime increased in Little Rock in 1962 in almost every form a Federal Bureau of Investigation report showed today.

The only decrease recorded in 1961 compared to 1961 was aggravated assault. The number of cases dropped from 53 to 49.

Murders and non-negligent homicides forcible rapes robberies burglary breaking and entering larcenies and auto thefts all were more frequent in 1962 than in 1961.

Little Rock Police Chief R. E. Glasscock said the increase was not as bad as it sounded.

"It reflects our extremely low rate in 1961," he said.

Glasscock said that more teenagers were arrested for burglary in 1962 than in 1961.

The FBI report reflects the same trend.

"Overall there was no change in the volume of adult arrests but arrests of persons under 18 years of age climbed nine per cent," the report said.

"In rural counties arrests of persons under 18 years of age were up seven per cent," it said.

The national crime rate increased seven per cent.

The breakdown for Little Rock showed the number of murders or non-negligent homicides increased from 12 in 1961 to 15 in 1962. The number of forcible rapes went from 11 to 12.

Robberies numbered 84 in 1962 77 in 1961. Burglaries and breaking and entering violations shot from 756 in 1961 to 996. Larceny of $50 and over (grand larceny) went from 575 to 697 in 1962 and auto thefts were recorded 238 times in 1961 263 times in 1962.

"Burglary has been one of our big problems," Glasscock said. He related a number of teen-age arrests to burglaries in "housing areas or apartment houses."

"You have to count the burglary of each house as one burglary even though some fellows may have gone along hitting one right after another," he said.

Glasscock also said burglary of office buildings increased in Little Rock in 1962.

"However our crime rate is about the same as in cities of comparable size," he said.

For comparison a random selection of cities comparable in population to Little Rock was made including Albany N.Y., Allentown Pa. Amarillo and Beaumont Tex.; Camden N.J.; Columbus Ga.; Duluth Minn.; Erie Pa.; Fall River Mass.; Kansas City Kan.; Lincoln Neb.; New Bedford Mass.; Niagara Falls N.Y.; Peoria Ill.; Reading Pa. and Trenton N.J.

Little Rock's murder rate went up and the rate went up in eight of the above listed 16 cities. Little Rock's forcible rape and robbery rates also increased while reductions were made in six of the 16 cities. The rates increased in the other 10 cities.

The burglary rate went up in Little Rock and in nine of the comparable cities with reductions in seven of the cities. Larcenies of $50 or more went up in Little Rock while the rates in nine of the other cities decreased. Auto thefts increased in Little Rock and in 10 of the other cities.

Aggravated assault Little Rock's only decrease in 1962 also went down in six of the cities and increased in the other 10.

Fronzizi Removed by Argentine

ARGENTINA (AP) — Deposed President Arturo Fronzizi has been flown to an Andean ranch 850 miles southwest of Buenos Aires after languishing for 11 months on a river island near Buenos Aires.

Fronzizi, who insists he still is president, was removed from the capital area as campaigning neared for national elections scheduled for June 23.

Some 5,773 Hempstead County residents took the oral polio vaccine yesterday at three sites in the county. The count in Hope was 4,541 while Bleivins counted 509 and Washington 723.

All in all the first of the three series was termed successful by Dr. James W. Branch, chairman of the program which is sponsored by the Hempstead Medical Association. Dr. Branch said that an opportunity for makeups — those who missed the vaccine Sunday for some reason or other — will be held soon, probably within a week.

Pilot Hurt Critically in Crash

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Julius R. Feinberg, 41, of El Dorado, was in very critical condition in a hospital here today after being injured in the crash of his single-engine plane near here Sunday.

Feinberg's plane crashed shortly after taking off from the Downtown Airport south of El Dorado. The plane went down one-quarter mile south of the airport in a thickly wooded area.

He suffered brain injuries, severe facial lacerations, a crushed leg and ankle, fractured forearm and internal injuries.

Wreckage of the plane was scattered over a large area.

Federal Aviation Agency investigators Quay Lyle and Warren Jones, both of Little Rock, examined the wreckage.

Vernon Taylor of El Dorado, who found Feinberg, said he heard the plane circling over his home with the motor sputtering. Taylor investigated after hearing the crash. He found Feinberg, semi-conscious, in the plane seat, which had been thrown about 25 feet from the plane.

Feinberg is manager of Pumps and Power Co. of El Dorado.

Khrushchev and Actress Named

MOSCOW (AP) — Not that he had any doubts but Premier Khrushchev learned today that both he and the glamorous actress for whom he voted were elected to the Russian Federated Republic's Parliament.

So were all the other Communist-party backed candidate who ran without opposition Sunday in the Russian and eight of the other 15 Soviet republics. The other six republics will vote March 17.

Moscow radio said there was a 99 per cent national turn-out of voters.

The elections were to choose members of the republic parliaments and members of regional city and town councils. There were more than a million candidates all unopposed.

Khrushchev voted for Yulya Borisova Moscow's brightest young stage star because Soviet law prohibited him from voting in his own district for himself. Miss Borisova also got a vote from V. M. Molotov the former premier and foreign minister who is now in disgrace. He attracted little attention as he cast his vote.

Patient at Ft. Root Shoots Doctor

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A patient at Fort Roots Veterans Administration psychiatric hospital shot and critically wounded a staff doctor today in the doctor's office.

A search was launched by hospital and city police and the Federal Bureau of investigation for a patient seen running out of Dr. Keith E. Herlocker's office moments after the shot was heard.

Herlocker was in critical condition at the fort hospital and was not expected to live, said Tom Cauley, regional VA public information director. The name of the patient was not released immediately.

The .32 caliber bullet entered Dr. Herlocker's ear and came out his jaw. A woman employee in the next office heard the shot, ran to the office, and saw the patient leave.

Fort Roots is a sprawling installation on a high bluff overlooking the Arkansas River. It is guarded but most patients can leave the grounds with passes.

Herlocker, 51, was chief of vocational counseling at the hospital and Cauley said he apparently was interviewing the patient at the time he was shot. Herlocker had been at Fort Roots since 1958. He was transferred there from a government hospital in Excelsior Springs, Mo.

Cauley said officers believed the patient was still on the hospital grounds, and probably still armed.

14 Violent Deaths in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A woman was beaten knifed and burned to death and a man died in an ironical car-train crash posting the violent death toll for Arkansas at 14.

He was alone in the car.

On Feb. 24 the same train hit a car at a crossing in Swifton killing two women. In each case the train was bound from Little Rock to St. Louis. It did not derail either time.

Eunice Mae Boone 37 of Augusta was found dead in the basement of a Negro church at Augusta.

State Trooper Elmer Belcher said a Negro man was being held in connection with the case. No charges were filed.

Belcher said the man told him he hit the woman she fell and did not move. Then the Negro man built a fire which he said was to keep the woman also a Negro woman Belcher said. The woman's arm fell in the fire and was badly burned Belcher quoted the man.

Also during the week four other persons died in traffic accidents one drowned two burned to death one was stabbed to death one died when hit by a bucket full of dirt one was killed when hit by a train and two died in a train-truck collision.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans measuring 1964 chances find their strength gaining in the South and West and their weakness showing in the big cities where they say they lost the presidency in 1960.

That was the gist of a statistical report released over the weekend by Republican National Chairman William E. Miller. He said it provided "satisfaction with the results of last fall's election and optimism as Republicans prepare for the campaign of 1964."

Any such optimism was tempered, however, with the report's admissions (1) that the big cities are still solidly Democratic, (2) that New England, once a Republican stronghold, "needs extra effort," (3) that older voters aren't responding to GOP appeals and (4) that party candidates made no significant 1962 gains in depressed areas.

Three of the big cities—Detroit, Chicago and Philadelphia—bid to-day at a meeting of the National Committee's site subcommittee for the 1964 presidential nominating convention.

Govs. George Romney of Michigan and William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, who have been mentioned as possible candidates for the nomination, planned to head their delegations. Democratic Mayor Richard J. Daley led the Chicago group.

The subcommittee will hear proposals Tuesday from Dallas, San Francisco and Miami Beach.

The national committee's analysis of 1962 election results noted Republican gains among the farmers, increases in the GOP vote in the suburbs and the addition of 1.5 million party votes in the South.

On this point, the report said: "If an increase in the Republican percentage of the vote for the House of Representatives is the indicator of dissatisfaction with the present administration, the South ranks as the area with Continued on Page Three

Quakes Are Felt in This Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Earth tremors rattled parts of Arkansas and six other states Sunday morning but no significant damage was reported.

The tremors were centered over the New Madrid fault in southeast Missouri. They also were felt in Kansas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Kentucky and Illinois.

In Jonesboro, Ark., the tremor cracked the plaster and set chandeliers swaying in the First Presbyterian Church during a silent prayer. The minister nodded to the congregation and several dozen people left the church.

Three men stopped a rush of children to the door and no one was injured. Many of the people returned after the brief tremor subsided.

Congregations in other churches in Jonesboro also felt the tremor at 11:30 a.m. but no one left the building.

A church in Sikeston, Mo., was shaken after the minister spoke about the destruction a Russian nuclear bomb could cause.

The tremor provoked wide comment. "I felt somebody shove my chair and I sure felt funny when I turned around and didn't see anybody," said State Police Sgt. John Boyd of Du Quoin Ill.

Dale Allen editor of the Newport Daily Independent said windows and doors in his home quivered for about 30 seconds.

Tom Manning publicist for Arkansas State College at Jonesboro said it felt like a strong wind had come up.

And dishes rattled in a six-state area during Sunday's mild earth tremor.

No serious damage or injuries were reported but hundreds of persons were startled. Telephone switchboards were swamped with calls.

Dr. Kern Jackson in charge of the seismograph center at the University of Arkansas called the quake "one of the biggest in 10 years."

A seismograph at St. Louis University indicated the tremors were moderate to strong and probably centered about 140 miles south of St. Louis in what is known as the New Madrid Fault. That is in the southeast corner of Missouri near the Arkansas state line.

At some points two distinct shocks lasting 30 to 40 seconds were felt. At other points three shocks were felt.

Some people said it sounded like a jet breaking the sound barrier others that it sounded like a passing train.

Extra Worker Ban Upheld by High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court unanimously upheld today a lower court ruling that the nation's railroads have the right to make sweeping work rules changes.

The Supreme Court in an unsigned opinion rejected an union protest against plans by the carriers to eliminate what management calls "featherbedding" work practices.

Five operating unions, representing about 210,000 men who man the trains of 195 railroads, had asked the court to overturn a decision by the U.S. Circuit Court in Chicago.

The Circuit Court had ruled in favor of the railroads and their plans to make working rules changes.

The Supreme Court's action was by an 8-0 vote. Justice Goldberg, a former secretary of labor, dis-qualified himself from the case.

Sought in a Fatal Stabbing

HAMBURG Ark. (AP) — Sheriff Guy Moorman of Ashley County said Sunday night he is looking for a young man in connection with the fatal stabbing of Tommy Rodgers 20.

The youth was found dead in his father's service station last Friday night. He was working the station as a favor to his parents who went to see a younger brother in the Hamburg High School junior class play.

Moorman said a man "about 25 with blond hair in a ducktail-style haircut" is believed to be connected with the case.

"The last person that we knew was a customer at the station reported seeing this fellow," Moorman said. "After paying for the service this customer left and he said the blond fellow was still there. He didn't get a look at the blond fellow's face."

Moorman said the last sale on the register was for five cents.

"They didn't get many five cent sales," the sheriff said. "The way I figure it somebody bought something just to get the cash register open."

Rogers a sophomore at Arkansas A&M College was buried Sunday.

The sheriff said the man he is looking for is about 5-10 weighs about 150 pounds and was wearing a light-colored jacket with plastic plaques at the sides.

Several hitch-hikers had been checked out and others were being sought, he said.

A bayonet which Moorman said was a Marine trench knife was found about 75 yards from the station and a scabbard was nearby. The sheriff and the coroner said it was the murder weapon.

No identification marks and no finger prints could be found on the knife or scabbard Moorman said.

The boys body was found by two Hamburg teen-agers who drove into the station for service. On the counter near the body a road map was spread out indicating that the youth had given someone directions.

The cash register had been emptied of $125.

Claims Americans Shot Cuban Cow

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro's government has accused American forces of shooting a cow and staging a drunken gun battle along the 27-mile fence rimming the U.S. Guantanamo naval base.

A communique of the Armed Forces Ministry said a U.S. soldier drew a bead on a Cuban border guard Wednesday night missed and killed the cow.

The following night it claimed two groups of drunken U.S. Marines "engaged in an intense gun battle."

There was no immediate comment from the American Navy.

Desperation Shot Wins State Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sophomore Danny Sheets canned an incredible 45-foot desperation shot Saturday night to boost Lake Hamilton to the Class B boys State Basketball Championship.

His frenzied effort climaxed a second overtime, and put down Dyess 61-59.

Immediately thereafter Sheets flung himself on the floor, cried, and then explained: "I can't believe it."

Coach Tommy Barrett of Lake Hamilton, asked what he thought about it, replied calmly: "He was shooting for the basket, I imagine."

Lake Hamilton took an early lead and held a 21-11 first quarter advantage. Dyess cut this to two points, 34-32, by halftime, and stayed close the rest of the way.

Sheets sent the game into overtime with a free throw with four seconds to play in regulation play, tying the score 53-53.

Each team slowed down in the first overtime. Each team got one field goal. Sheets missed a 20-footer at the buzzer ending the first overtime.

There are things on the docket this week which might prove controversial—like the AIDC appropriation bill—which the Joint Budget Committee is expected to look at Tuesday.

With Perry County Rep. Paul Van Dalsem a member of the committee discussion of the appropriation bill's merit could get hot fast. Van Dalsem refused to say whether he will oppose the budget. He has enough strength to block passage of the appropriation if he is dissatisfied with it.

Exhibition Schedule to Open

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Veteran Gene Woodling was fired by the New York Mets and Detroit rookie pitcher Bill Paul was knocked unconscious by a batted ball on Sunday, but the big news to major league baseball fans this week is the opening of the spring exhibition schedule.

All 20 big league clubs will go into actual competition on Saturday for the first time since the end of the 1962 pennant races last October. In the top games the world champion New York Yankees meet the Baltimore Orioles at Port Lauderdale, Fla. and the National League champion San Francisco Giants play the Cleveland Indians at Tucson, Ariz.

The Mets asked waivers on Woodling, a $35,000 player-coach, for the purpose of making him a free agent because he intervened Friday on behalf of first baseman Marv Throneberry in Throneberry's contract dispute with George Weiss, Met president.

"I got in an agitation and I got fired," Woodling said.

Paul, a 22-year-old right-hander from Pleasant Plain, Ohio, was standing in right field at the Detroit camp in Lakeland, Fla. when a line drive from the bat of Mike Christino hit him in the head. He regained consciousness before being taken to a hospital. X-rays showed no skull fracture, but trainer Jack Homel said the rookie pitcher, up from Knoxville, had suffered a concussion.

Whitely Ford, southpaw pitching star for the Yankees, was sharp in an intrasquad game Sunday. He retired nine batters in a row before yielding a hit. Don Cardwell also showed well for the Pirates, pitching two perfect innings and veteran Johnny Podres retired six in a row in a Dodger game.

Outfielder Lenny Green signaled with the Minnesota Twins for a reported $2,000 and pitcher Jim Bouton came to terms with the Yankees for an estimated $3,000.

Up-dated and feminized, the Buster Brown haircut returns. Hair stylist Julius Caruso uncovered a family photo of creating a modern version of the boyish classic. Called nearly 40 years ago showing his own Buster Brown. Clutching the arm of a taller cousin (left), he models the pin-and-a-slight wave.

Good jewelry is always in good taste. The gold ensemble (left) is for afternoon into evening. It includes 14 karat gold earrings, crafted in a textured effect, gold necklace done in the form of leaves, chain bracelet and ring with large pearl. The wardrobe of uniform cultured pearls (right), completed over many anniversary dates, can be worn together or separately to suit the occasion. The choker, matinee and opera length pearls are individual necklaces. Pearl earrings and ring are dotted with small diamonds.

DOROTHY DIX

HIS WIFE PUTS AUNTIE FIRST

By HELEN WORDEN ESKINE
Dear Helen: My wife and I were married 11 years ago and, until we moved near to her aunt and uncle our lives flowed along normally. Then, two years ago we made that fatal move—and boy, what a change!

All my son and I ever heard was, "We're going to see Auntie and Uncle," or "Auntie and Uncle are coming to see us." Then Uncle passed away and nothing would do, but we must move in with Auntie as "the poor thing" needed company. That was it.

If I had my choice of going to jail or staying with Auntie, I'd take jail and enjoy it. My son and I are the fall guys. Nothing we ever do or say satisfies that woman. In the beginning I thought to sweeten her with a few gifts such as a fur jacket or warm eiderdowned house slippers. She was allergic to fur and the eiderdown tickled her feet.

The flowers I sent her at Easter made her sneeze. When I switched to candy and books she developed a trace of diabetes and said her eyesight was failing. I gave up.

Then my wife blamed me for neglecting Auntie. If it weren't for my son, I'd call quits to our marriage. —Sick-at-Heart

Dear Sick: Yours is a familiar complaint—too much family. The handling of such a problem calls for as much diplomacy as is involved in the running of a state or city.

There is one safe rule to follow: be kind, understanding and in the right. Endeavor to see the other side of the picture.

Analyze Auntie. The things she would appreciate must be quite different from those which you have given her. Study her likes and dislikes, prejudices and interests. Once you find the clue to her character you will have reached a workable basis for your problem.

Auntie is undoubtedly insecure no longer young and now that her husband is gone, dependent upon relatives of whom your wife seems to be her closest. Your wife is being over-protective because Auntie represents the last of a generation she loved. I know because I have two aunts; one is my mother's sister, the other my father's sister.

If your wife doesn't realize this, tell her. Is it financially imperative that you and your family live with Auntie? If not, say, "We are moving into a home of our own. Some other provision must be made for Auntie." Since your wife is a blood relative, that is her responsibility. After all, you are the head of the household. Take charge!

Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "The Ideal Wife." Read and pass along to your wife.

Dear Helen: My two grown daughters think my ideas dated. I don't try to dominate, only advise.

There is very little open disagreement, especially since I told them I would write you as to what right in this particular case. The question is about receiving gifts from men friends. What type would obligate a young woman? What would be correct to accept even if she has no serious interest in the young man? Is it proper for them to exchange gifts? —Deeply Concerned

Dear Concerned: If the girls are engaged that's one thing. They could accept anything from a house and lot to a diamond ring from a fiancé and not be criticized.

But under ordinary circumstances the acceptance of a costly gift carries with it the implication of a favor to be returned. No girl should put herself in this position of being indebted to someone for whom she cares little. Gifts should be indebted to someone for whom she cares little. Gifts should be limited to candy, flowers, books or something else equally impermanent. Such gifts do not require return in kind. Exchange of presents should be spontaneous. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Manners and Young People."

Monticello Wins B Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Marianna ran out of clutch finishes and had its overloading plan backfire as the Porcupines went down to Monticello 59-45 in the finals of the Class A Boys State Basketball Tourney here Saturday night.

Kelton Busby, Monticello's shooting ace, was limited to 12 points, but Marianna overloaded the defense for him and left itself weak overall. Mike Guber, Johnny Cathay, Dwight Calhoun and Steve Hall of Monticello made the best of the situation.

And, despite all the strategy, Busby wound up the outstanding player in the Class A division of the tournament.

The Porcupines had made it to the finals by whipping up three fast finishes in their earlier games.

Monticello's Billies bounded into the lead in the first quarter and began adding to it. When the fourth quarter began, Monticello led 41-30.

Marianna made a brief comeback on the shooting of Danny Jackson, but Calhoun and Cathay stalled out front, and then connected on drives to ice the triumph.

the most substantial rejection of the New Frontier, followed by the states west of the Mississippi with a relatively high percentage of farm population.

This seemed to bear out the general thesis of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., that the Republicans could win the presidency by linking the south with the Midwest and West.

The report gave some comparative figures that could have a bearing on the chances of other potential bidders for the nomination—Scranton, Romney and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

The report noted a chronic Republican weakness in the big cities, where it said the vote was crucial in the defeat of Richard M. Nixon in the 1960 presidential election.

Bunche Reports Some Progress

DAMASCUS Syria (AP)—U.N. Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche apparently has won agreement from the Yemeni revolutionary government to shelve claims to the British-protected South Arabia Federation Yemen's southern neighbor.

Bunche spent the weekend in Yemen talking with President Abdullah Salal and other leaders in an attempt to smooth over the dispute that has ranged the United Arab Republic and the five-month old Yemen republic against Saudi Arabia and Jordan.

Bunche prepared to move on to Aden, Egypt and Saudi Arabia for more peace talks.

HI, NEIGHBOR!

The neighborhood pharmacy has always been a focal point in the community. It's a grand old American institution. Here, friends meet informally. They talk about the weather, how things are going in the sports world, discuss politics, grumble a bit about taxes. When we fill a prescription for you, it is not just a business transaction. It's an opportunity to be of helpful service to a neighbor and his family.

Mississippi State Makes NCAA Meet

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
Exuberant Mississippi State, long denied by tradition from a chance at going all the way, finally made it into the NCAA post-season basketball tournament.

The Maroons won the Southeastern Conference title Saturday night just a couple of hours after school president D. W. Colvard announced a break with tradition which prohibited Mississippi State from playing teams with Negro athletes.

The Maroons nailed down the title with a 75-72 victory at Mississippi. It was the third straight time they had won or shared the championship.

Duke, West Virginia and Connecticut also secured NCAA berths with Saturday victories, leaving only six spots still to be filled. Those go to the conference champions in the Ivy, Big Six, West Coast, Big Ten, Big Eight and Ohio Valley, still undecided.

Duke, paced by All-America Art Heyman, came from behind and beat Wake Forest 68-57 in the finals of the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament at Raleigh, N.C.

West Virginia had to resort to a game-saving stall in the final minutes to hold off Davidson's ambitious sophomores 79-74 in the finals of the Southern Conference Tournament at Richmond, Va. Rod Thorn's 22 points led the Mountaineers.

Connecticut, West Virginia's first-round NCAA opponent, nailed down the Yankee Conference title with an 88-73 victory over visiting Rhode Island.

Cincinnati, the nation's top-ranked team, winner of the Missouri Valley Conference and shooting for its third straight NCAA title handled St. Louis its first home court loss of the season, 66-52 with All-America Ron Bonham scoring 32 points.

Four of the other ranked teams were upset victims, however. Chicago Loyola, No. 3, fell before Wichita 73-72 in Chicago; Illinois, No. 6, lost to Michigan 84-81; NCAA-bound New York University, No. 9, was pset at Fordham 71-68 despite a 35-point performance by All-America Barry Kramer, and No. 10 Georgia Tech lost at Vanderbilt 75-74.

Broyles Asks Time Before New Grid Rule

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) - Football Coach Frank Broyles of the University of Arkansas said Sunday night the NCAA Rules Committee should declare a one-year moratorium before sweeping rules changes go into effect.

Such a delay would give coaches ample time to help work out flaws in new rules, he said.

Broyles noted that confusion persists throughout the ranks of coaches and officials over special situations created by the committee's tightened substitution restrictions adopted last January for 1963.

Generally, the new rule restricts a team to two substitutions on fourth down and when the ball changes hands. In any other situation any number of men may be substituted, provided the clock is stopped.

Broyles said the 13 members of the Rules Committee cannot be expected to sit down and come up with a perfect set of rules changes in two days. The year's delay would solve any problems created by the changes, he said.

He said he knows the revised code will be in effect in 1963.

"I would have preferred that the rules remained as they were, or change toward more liberalized substitution," Broyles said.

The week before the new rules were written, Broyles said coaches had voted 5-1 in favor of freer substitution, or at least no change.

Broyles said he could understand the thinking of the committee in ignoring the wishes of the coaches.

"The committee is made up of men who have been in the game a long time," he said. "They know that many coaches who yearn for free substitution don't know what they're asking for. They know, too, that many coaches seek change because just not doing well with what they have."

The moratorium would smooth out the transition periods, Broyles said.

THE STORY: As a result of David's defense of Dr. Cornish at the hospital dance, he has angered Rhoda Bascomb, Tony Thorne and Nancy Horton. David says many things he might not have said had he not been angry.

Chapter XIII

Nancy was here, there and everywhere, yet she kept herself incommunicado. She seemed to know how to do it even while she worked elbow to elbow with him. Just as David finished supper, the telephone operator informed him that a letter had been left at the board for him.

"Come by special messenger," she said, chewing her words as some girls chew gum.

The note was from Rhoda, so cleverly worded that he did not see its cleverness at all. Naturally, she wrote, she had wanted to defend her father, but she was sorry she had done it in such a childish way. She owed him an apology for something she had said which was not the truth. And she herself admired David for standing by his chief, because while a man is on medical service the Medical Chief is the one to whom he owes his loyalty. And since the cause of the quarrel had really been nonexistent, could he help her destroy the effects? "If you forgive me," she finished, "will you call me as soon as possible after you get this?"

David saw no reason to reject her friendliness. He went to a telephone booth and dialed her number.

Rhoda was quick to take advantage of David's generous mood. "Then you're not angry, David?" she asked. "Hadden't we better get together on this? I'm free tonight."

"It seems - I'm off duty, too. I'll be over within the hour, Rhoda."

He changed hastily from his whites to the blue, signed out and left the building. Anthony Thorne was just coming in, to see a patient in the private pavilion.

David stopped him. "My apologies, Dr. Thorne, for - insubordination and all that. The whole thing caught me off balance."

Thorne took the proffered hand without enthusiasm. "I haven't any personal feelings about it, Anders, though I want you to understand that I felt it necessary to tell Dr. Bascomb what you really thought about - his offer. I like to play in the open."

"Thanks for the boost," David laughed and passed on. He saw that Thorne was not going to forget this incident but, his apology made, he dismissed Thorne from his mind.

At that moment Dr. Bascomb emerged from another room, and greeted David as if nothing had happened. The butler stood aside while they talked.

"I'm sorry about the other night, sir," David said. "I lost my head, I guess."

He smiled and waved David down the hall. "A few hasty words at a nurses' dance aren't of any importance."

David was relieved. It was generous of Dr. Bascomb to take matters so lightly. He'd apologized to Thorne, to Bascomb; soon he'd straighten things out with Rhoda.

Rhoda was playing on the white piano when he entered.

She didn't stop, but let him stand leaning against the instrument watching her red-tipped fingers dart lightly over the keys. Beyond, the French windows were open to frame the sky and the golden silver of the moon. She didn't lift her eyes. Her hair was brushed back simply with the ends turned toward her face.

"I'm so ashamed, David," she said. "I don't know what to say."

"You let me talk first, because I started the business. I was kind of soreheaded that night. Of course you wanted to defend your father, same as I felt about Cornish. Not that your father needs any defense, Rhoda. He's a great surgeon."

And because he protested that he hadn't any excuse, she found dozens for him. "David," she finished, "if you've really forgiven me, you'll take the job Dad offered."

"He's mighty decent about it, Rhoda. I spoke to him on the way in. Still - a man can't take a job offered that way."

"I hoped you'd forget that, David. I made that up. Oh, please believe me. Dad doesn't permit such interference. I knew Tony spoke to you - you had told me that yourself. I knew Dad had spoken to Tony - not because I asked him to, but because he thought a man nearer your age, like Tony, might influence you. He feels you'd be of use to Dr. Camwell, and he to you. So I made up the story."

She had fitted all the pieces in so perfectly, David believed her.

Sergeant Given the Air Medal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LANGLEY AFB Va. (AP) - Staff Sgt. George T. Ethridge of Bald Knob, Ark., was given the Air Medal here Saturday for support of the U.S. Military Assistance program in South Viet Nam during 1962. He is a member of the 464th Trooper Carrier Wing. Thirteen other members of the wing received the Air Medal.

"Still, I don't really want it, Rhoda. I don't think it would be fair to anybody, much less to myself."

She tilted her head back sharply. "Let's make up, David."

Her face was close, her lips a scarlet crescent in a white mist. He kissed her firmly. But he saw clearly before him Nancy's lovely face.

Bobcats Again Lose But Win State Berth

The Hope Bobcats fell five points short of winning their third straight District 4AA Championship as the Malvern Leopards edged them out 62-58 in the finals of the district tournament at Malvern Saturday night. It was a nip and tuck battle all the way, but a third quarter Malvern scoring spree plus a profitable night for the Leopards from the free throw line proved the difference.

Hope will meet Forrest City, third place in Region 2AA, at 7:30 Wednesday night in the State AAA-AA Tournament at Little Rock. Malvern faces Benton Tuesday and Crossett will take on Harrison that night. Crossett earned their berth and third place in the district by whipping Fairview 62-52 Saturday night.

Hope and Malvern both started off hot and the score was tied 19 all at the end of the first quarter. David Porterfield tossed in a long field goal in the final seconds of the second period to put the Cats out front 35-34 at the half. The fatal third quarter began as a nightmare for the Cats as Malvern scored 10 straight points before Hope could tally. The Bobcats closed the gap to 48-42 at the end of the third, and although Hope outscored the winners 16-14 in the final period, they couldn't overcome that Leopard lead.

Hope outscored Malvern 50-40 from the field, but the big difference was Malvern's domination of charity shots 22 to Hope's 8. Dan Jones was the big gun for Hope with 17 followed by David Porterfield with 11. Vince Foster and Earl Ray Murphy hit 9 each. Burnett 5, Russell 3, Purdie and Allen 2 each. Grant led the Leopards with 26.

After the game Hope was awarded the trophy for second place in the tournament. Malvern, the round robin winner, received the winners trophy, succeeding Hope who had held that honor for the past two years. The Bobcats presently have a 19-8 record with three of those eight losses to Malvern and two from Nashville. Plan to follow the Cats to Little Rock Wednesday when they meet Forrest City at 7:30.

Hope Bowlers Place Well at Shreveport

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — A 3,107 was good for the team lead, and Harold Hendrix Pulwund of Hope, Ark., got it here Sunday in the first weekend of the 26th Southern Bowling Congress tournament.

Ark-La. Villagers of Emmet, Ark., was third with a 3,040.

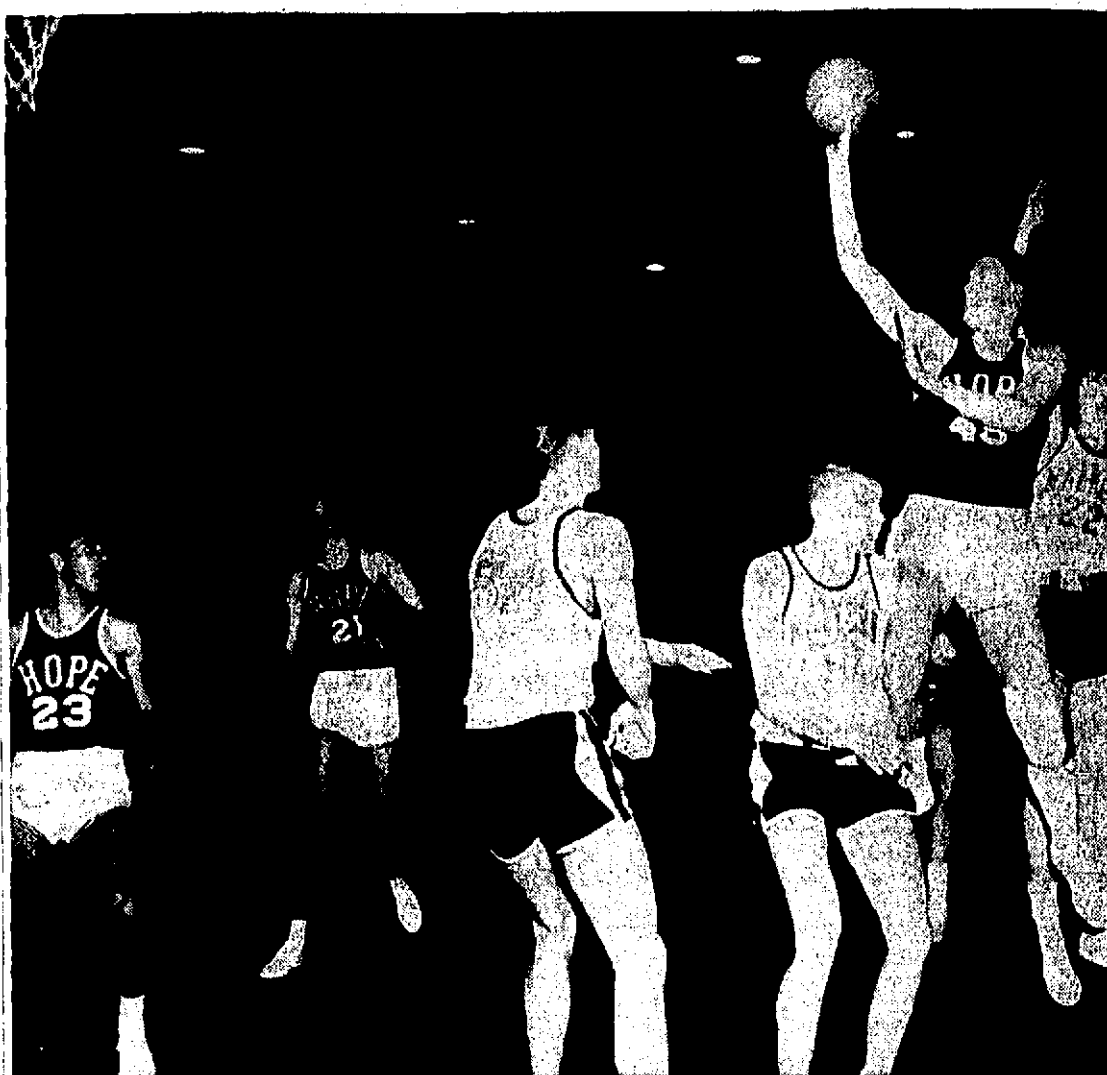

Art Gatlin and Bert Williams of Blytheville, Ark., placed fifth in doubles with a 1,253. Arkansans did not place in the other events.

The tourney continues for four more weekends with $33,000 in prize money.

55,000 Take Oral Vaccine

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Some 55,000 more persons took Type III Sabin Oral Polio Vaccine during make-up clinics Sunday in Pulaski County. About 70,000 took Type III the week before in the regular immunization program.

Bobcats Lose But Gain State Meet

Although the Bobcats were again edged by Malvern Saturday night they still gained a berth in the State Tournament which starts this week. In this picture Dan Jones of Hope is hitting for two of his 17 points for the night. No. 21 is Murphy of Hope and No. 21 is Foster. The Hope team lost to Malvern for the third time this year by a 62 to 58 score.

Rosburg in Lead at New Orleans

By BEN THOMAS

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Pudgy Bob Rosburg, who has had to settle for second place five times since winning his last golf tourney, carries a one-stroke lead into today's final round of the $40,000 Greater New Orleans Open.

During the victory drouth, Rosburg lost three sudden death play-offs — the last to handsome Tony Lema, who is pressing Rosburg for the $6,400 first-prize check here.

Rosburg, the ex-PGA champion from Portland, Ore., shot a 32-35 — 67 in Sunday's third round to equal the course record he set Friday on the water-dotted Lake-wood Country Club course.

Registering an 8-under par 208 for 54 holes, Rosburg, 36, regained the lead he lost Saturday to gray-haired Bo Winger, whose 72 dropped him to third place.

Lema, 29, who won three tournaments last fall, moved into second place with a 72-69-68-209. Winger stood at 210.

Arnold Palmer carded his first par round with a 72 to give him a 219-11 strokes off the pace. Young Jack Nicklaus also had his best showing. He carded a 69 for a 216.

Semi-pro League to Be Organized

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Plans to organize a semi-pro baseball league in Arkansas were formulated in Pine Bluff Saturday.

Roland Thomas, the organizer, said he hoped for a six-team league but would not turn down

State's Top Basketball Meet to Start

LITTLE ROCK (AP) —Basketball coach in Arkansas once said, and he meant it only half-jokingly, that kids in northeast Arkansas don't crawl out of their cribs—they dribble out, feinting, faking and shooting all the way.

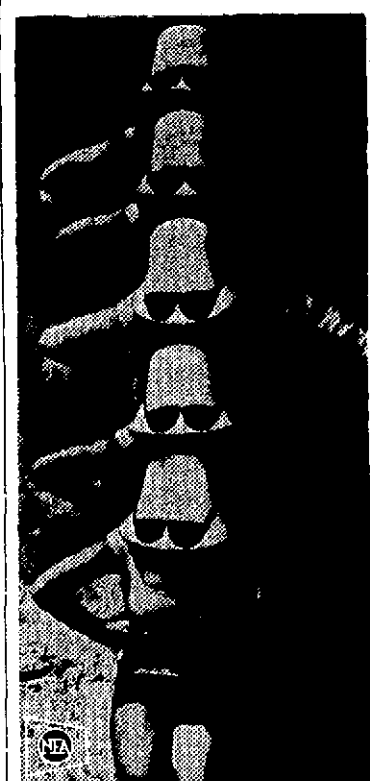

Thus it is that northeast Arkansas' seemingly instinctive basketball savvy always plays a big part in the Class AA-AAA state basketball tournament, which opens here Tuesday.

The Class A-AAA state tourney is on the sixth go-round. Region 2AA teams (Northeast Arkansas) or Big Nine Conference teams have claimed each state championship since the creation of the A-AAA tourney.

The Big Nine, of course, is composed of schools with the manpower necessary to meet almost any challengers in most parts of the state. A good Class AA basketball team has its troubles against a mediocre Big Nine squad.

This year's tourney is expected to follow the same trend as the first five. From northeast Arkansas and Region 2AA come Paragould, Jonesboro and Forrest City, all highly respected on the court.

The Big Nine entries include North Little Rock, winner in league play and No. 1 in The Associated Press Arkansas high school basketball poll; Blytheville, Little Rock Hall and Fort Smith, Hall and Blytheville tied for second, Fort Smith won a four-team playoff for the fourth berth.

SHADED LADIES — What looks like a 10-armed creature from outer space actually is five lovely girls hiding under protective sunshade hats at Cypress Gardens, Fla.

Valley Springs, a Region 1AA team with a 28-11 record, opens the tourney at 2 p.m. against North Little Rock, which has a 22-4 record. Other Region 1AA teams are Fayetteville and Harrison.

From Region 3AA come Benton, Conway and Russellville, and Region 4AA has Crossett, Hope and Malvern.

The secret behind the success of the favorites — North Little Rock, Paragould and Jonesboro — is height. Some coaches believe it may be their downfall, too. The Wildcats of the Big Nine have well-balanced height: Jim Adams, Richard Baldwin — both over 6-3 and husky big boys in Delaney Kinchen, Bobby Brown and Ronnie Lema.

Paragould's height is centered in Manuel Washington, 6-5, Gary Washington, 6-3, and Ed Morten, 6-2. Paragould lost several games early in the season when Manuel Washington was sidelined, but has come on strongly since his return to the lineup.

Jonesboro possesses the most height of any of the three favorites. John Dickson towers 6-9, Mike Burk is 6-5 and Clovis Sweeney is 6-2.

The big question is: Can the tall men remain effective while playing four games in four or five straight days?

It's worth mention to note, also, that the favorite has won the tournament only once — when Fort Smith did it in 1959.

Ouachita to Get 2nd Chance

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (P) — Ouachita gets a second chance here tonight.

The Tigers, winners of the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference basketball race, lost in the AIC tournament at Pine Bluff.

Arkansas Tech went on to take the tournament and set up the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics District 17 playoff here tonight.

Ouachita will play Tech the best two out of three for a trip to the national NAIA tournament at Kansas City.

The second game will be at Russellville, Tech's home. Arkadelphia is Ouachita's home. If a third game is necessary, it will be played on a neutral court. Almost predictably, the AIC

Public Welfare Group to Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Southwest Region of the American Public Welfare Association meets in Little Rock March 10-13, Mrs. Geneva Mason, president of the Arkansas Conference, has announced. The region includes Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

State Airports

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency has announced plans to install equipment at airports in four Arkansas cities at a total cost of $233,360. Type of work, average cost and locations are: Radar beacon systems, $174,220 at Little Rock; VHF-UHF direction finding equipment, $28,340 at Texarkana and Walnut Ridge; and marker and beacon system $30,800 at Hot Springs.

tournament following the season. In the past, though, the tourney winner went to Kansas City.

This year the AIC tournament was inaugurated, with the league winner to meet the tourney winner in a playoff. If the league winner also wins the tournament, then it upholds its right to represent the league in the NAIA national tournament. If it loses, then it has to meet the tourney winner to decide which team should go.

Tech is 17-8 for the season and Ouachita is 19-8. Both teams have been bothered recently by injuries to the No. 1 men.

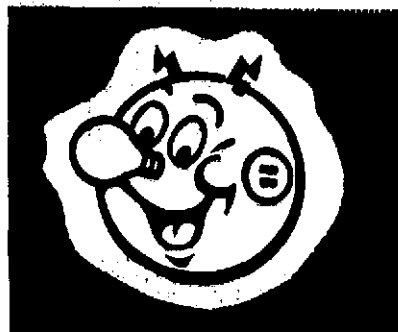

Ouachita's Wayne Davenport came down with an infected foot near the end of the season, but saw regular action in the AIC tourney.

Kenny Saylor, Tech's ace, suffered a broken wrist a little over two weeks before the season ended, but played in the final game of the AIC tourney.

Both players are expected to see action tonight.

This is the symbol that says "we have stepped up to flameless cooking," with the most modern range on today's market. It means you are through with dingy walls, for flameless ranges can't make soot. It's also the sign that you enjoy a cooler kitchen, for flameless cooking puts heat into the food, not into the air. Nearly everyone knows it: in today's homes, the flameless way means the better way to live.
